William Wordsworth compares her voice with the sweet song of cuckoo. The cuckoo used to sing in spring and everyone was pestered by its singing. The poet that maiden's voice was much more sweet and good than the cuckoo. There

REFERENCE :-

These lines have been taken from the poem "The Solitary Reaper" written by "William Wordsworth" the pioneer of romantic poetry.

CONTEXT :-

William Wordsworth was one of the romantic poet and his poetry reflects his love for nature and humanity.

In this poem the solitary Reaper, poet explains about the sweet voice of maiden who was singing while cutting the herbs.

8

Her voice was so sweet that anyone can be impressed. The poet in the same manner while passing by heard her voice and stopped. He wanted to enjoy her sweet tone for a while and forgets all his sorrows. The poet compares the voice of maiden with Nightingale and cuckoo, which are more expert in singing. He says that her voice was much more pleasant than any other tone. The poet does not understand her song, and got the conclusion that it may be some kind of sad song. She wants to express her some sort of sadness or grief, and feels relief while singing.

EXPLANATION:-

In these lines the poet William Wordsworth explains that once he was climbing a hill, and at once he heard some sweet song. He saw that a maiden was there who was singing and reaping. She was cutting and binding the grain crops, and singing while reaping. The poet says that when he passed by, he heard her sweet voice. The song was so pleasant and fascinating that poet cannot go further and stopped at once. He was astonished to hear such a great pleasant voice. He cannot move forward as he merged in deep feeling of her sweet voice. The poet asks that shall he stop or pass gently. The girl was all alone and by his song she expresses some kind of sadness that she might have faced earlier in her life. The poet describes about the scene of that moment that everything near the valley and hill were enjoying this beautiful voice and were pleasant to hear her sweet song. The surroundings also got impressed and start cherishing, this seems that even the scenery were enjoying her voice than how man cannot enjoy and appreciate it. It seems that everything was flowing with the song in a pleasant way.

REFERENCE:-

These lines have been sort out from the sonnet "On his Blindness", written by "John Milton".

CONTEXT :-

John Milton was one of best known poet. He lost his vision when he was young five. He cannot see different things and become completely blind. He was so regressed by his blindness. The poet says that those who got eyes are the blest ones. He further adds that his -blindness may cause him to stop writing poetry. He had got the skill of writing poems, but after becoming blind, he thought that his skill is wasting. He cannot survive with such distress any more. But a sudden thought came in his mind. He was gifted by the idea that God has given him sense and other blessings also. Those things who cannot move or see or walk also survive and thankful to their creator. The poet says that he should have to pass the rest of his life in praying God and obeying his command. He should be thankful before Him for everything he had.

EXPLANATION:-

In these lines of poem "On His Blindness", the poet "John Milton" says that everything in this world should be thankful before God. The poet became blind at the age of forty. He was so distressed that he thought that his life is now just wastage of time. At once one day he got an ~~imaginable~~ thought that everything is going in this world in a good manner. God is creator and He is running the cycle of this town. The stars, sun, moon and angels work on His commands and they are pleased and thankful before their creator. The lands and Oceans are running with rest. The poet further adds that those people are also served by God who are not able to even to walk and just stand still and wait for their future command by God. The poet got the feeling that he should also not to get upset and keep on enjoying his life. No matter he has become blind and no more able to explore his thinking by writing poems. It is the time when he should sit aside and wait for command. He should be thankful for all his past life before God and do not get upset from grieves and should be thankful for everything he had.

Q No 4:- a) What does the author of How to study suggested to study?

Ans:- HOW TO STUDY:-

The lesson "How to study" tells us that what skills should be taken to study in a good manner and nicely. Over study is also not good and under study as we all know don't mean anything. If anyone wants to get progress in the life and good future, then studies are must. In this lesson the ~~poet~~ author describes in a very beautiful and nice manner that how students should study.

PATTERN OF STUDIES :-

The author has discussed under several points that how student should carry out his/her studies per day. These are described as follows:

point (0) :-

The author writes that if studies are not done whole day, a student did not open book and just used to relax himself or herself then at the end he or she got point (0). There will be no progress in his studies.

point (1) :-

If a student studies at least for one hour, then he can get point (1). These is little progress.

→ point (2) :-

If student used to study twice than previously described, then his point may rise to 2. There will be even more progress in his studies.

→ point 3 :-

The student got point (3) when he studies triple than the one hour. His studies will get a new way and he/she may get much higher progress.

→ point (4) & (5) :-

These are thought to be last points got by student. He/she cannot get more than these points. It is the experience of study per day.

to get the real meaning. The student must count his or his respective hours of study. He should study that much as the could be able to remember. If this remembrance power has over, then he should stop that once and don't study more, as he will not be able to get the real course of topic.

out any ~~kind~~ STUDY HOURS:-

Every student should manage their study hours. This ability varies from person to person, and even in the minds of same person from time to time. The lesson by students should learn that in how much whereas time they got the new thing to remember. This pattern has helped many students to progress. After passing through such hours, one should stop, because he will not get anything beyond it. At an average, there are 4-5 hours during which the student may learn and get the things. In many cases 5-hours are extreme, above that the student may forget whatever he studies. So, after at least five hours she/he should stop studying and take rest.

REVISION PATTERN:-

The author has described about the revision pattern also. He tells that during revision before the examination one should revise that thing which he/she already knows. He should avoid about new topics. 'Mind is like a storeroom' - it stores many things but depends on whether the things are tidily stored or dispersed. More neatly stored things depict good studies. So studies also depend upon the pattern and if he studied one should just revise the previous studied the show topics, no addition should be there at the last day, because time is over now.

The author has given the above pattern of studies, by following this, student might get good progress in his studies.

2- Knowledge is power :-

Everything in world is exposed by knowledge. One can get progress and good fortune just by knowledge. Knowledge is of the most important tool in the growing global village. Knowledge is that thing which never has limits and got all the explorations in the society. On the other hand, knowledge must be of better and good things leads to progress.

Knowledge :-

The thing which anyone remembers or got to know by certain means and had an advantage is referred to as knowledge.

Knowledge is that strong thing which can mend the iron into its ores. It is one and good knowledge is of the most enhanceable feature.

Knowledge - in growing world:-

This world is getting the lines of progress in growing time.

Every one is bound to non-living things of modern scientific technology. These might be television, computers, laptops and especially mobiles. This dependence has on one hand made the life easy but on the other hand has made the Life difficult also, as everyone is bound to know about these obstacles.

Scientific Knowledge:-

Scientific knowledge has expanded the world very much. It has become most common and remarkable invention of science was microscope. By its invention all the magnifies of life can be observed.

From the biggest mountain to deep down into the body, we man has explored many things. This is because of that we find many have used the knowledge in modern better way. His knowledge provided him with these glorious things.

Once Mr. Legrand went with his servant Jupiter to the forest near the sea shore. There he got new thing that appeared golden. Legrand at once picked it up and hold it in some paper lying near and handed it over to Jupiter. They bought it at home.

Mystery of Golden Bug:-

That mysterious thing was named bug (golden bug) by Legrand. When author visited him he showed this to him and took it as his new invention, but he take not much attention.

Tour to Explore Treasure :-

Jupiter didn't want to go, but on insistence by his master she should have to help herself for the journey. The author Mr. Le Grand and Jupiter along with the dog set on for a journey to get the mysterious thing behind the map. They went long distance and finally reached their destiny. Jupiter was commanded to climb up the

Mr. Legrand had therefore got the money, coins, gold and became rich by bug. So he considered as the most conspicuous thing for him. Admittedly this bug had not make him rich, it is the parchment paper which he got at the side of the gold bug. This paper was one of the mysterious things in the story. It explored the map, showing the path of treasure. So major role is played by bug, along with that dirty parchment paper.
