

Literary Role of Durxání's Religious Scholars

Hanf[i M. Ahmed, Şáhvání Ş. Ahmed

Abstract

Maktaba Durkhani (Durxání Academy) established at the village of Durxání in Dhadar (Balochistan). It Started work in Brahui, Balochi, Sindhi, Persian, Urdu and Arabic Languages. The majority publications of Maktaba had been done in Brahui language. The first ever Brahui translation of the Holy Quran, which translated by an eminent religious scholar of the Academy, several religious literature had translated in various languages mentioned above, this Academy brought great changes and reforms in the life of individuals and in Baloch society. The writers of the Academy opposed the Christian missionaries. This Academy has brought new ideas in the history of Brahui literature and language. It put a great influence on Brahui language. The writer of the Academy had presented many works, which are belonged to religious teachings, Brahui literature, poetry, prose and language.

Keywords: Durxání Academy, publications of Maktaba, eminent religious scholar, Baloch society, Christian missionaries

Hanf[i M. Ahmed is M.Phil Scholar in Brahui Department, Şáhvání Ş. Ahmed is the Chairperson of Brahui Department University of Balochistan Quetta.