Methods for data collection of folklore

د فوکلور ټولونې میتودلوژي

Abdul Ahad Mangal (PhD Scholar, University Of Peshawar, Khyber Pashtoonkhwa)

Abstract:

In this paper, first, folklore is being explained by phrase and expression and to discuss what things folklore is being called and what means the expression of folklore in world languages. Meanwhile, after the recognition of folklore, will discuss the significant and importance of folklore like in the long process of human life how folklore has been transferred from one generation to another one and some ancient parts of it has been forgotten or lost and some of it has been over increased. It will also illuminate about folklore, what is the value and benefit to the human in its social life, whenever it is being transferred from one generation to another one and brings change and reform or contradicts by the time passing. Furthermore, in this paper, it would be discussed shortly about collecting folklore and which methodology should be used that is easy and effective. Besides, it would be explained which were the traditional methods of collecting folklore? And currently, which are the modern methods for collecting and maintaining of folklore to benefit. Studying this paper, readers would realize regarding folklore importance and value and also they would know the various methods of its collecting.

Key words: Meanwhile, illuminate, Furthermore, contradicts.